Nature Interpretive Center Docent Training

This volunteer position is an opportunity to share your passion for nature with the public.

Our new training program strives to give our docents all the information and tools to effectively convey our mission of conservation, public outreach and environmental stewardship.

Each week, new docents will attend a classroom session (Wed) and a field day (Sat) to learn about the plants, animals, and history of the Headlands.
And of course, how to be a docent!
